12. For this motion, state briefly every ground on which you claim that you are being held in violation of the Constitution, laws, or treaties of the United States.

Summarize briefly the facts supporting each ground.

GROUND ONE:

KARRIEM ABDULLAH'S CONVICTION WAS OBTAINED BY A DENIAL OF DUE PROCESS,
AS ABDULLAH IS ACTUALLY INNOCENT OF THE SENTENCE IMPOSED UPON HIM.

STATEMENT OF FACTS:

Under the fundamental miscarriage of justice exception to the procedural default rule in habeas corpus cases, a procedural default will be excused if the constitutional violation has probably resulted in the conviction of one who is actually innocent. Movant's procedural default of the one (1) year AEDPA time limit should be so excused.

The Supreme Court has held that if a petitioner presents evidence of innocence so strong that a Court cannot have confidence in the outcome of the trial unless the Court is also satisfied that the trial was free of non-harmless constitutional error, the petitioner should be allowed to pass through the gateway and argue the merits of his underlying claims. Schlup V. Delo 513 U.S. 298 (1995)

At bar, Karriem Abdullah submits that he is actually innocent of the sentence of 235 months that he received, inasmuch as the record is devoid of any evidence, indeed there is no evidence, that Abdullah possessed or sold "crack" cocaine.

1. ACTUAL INNOCENCE STANDARD

To establish that he is "actually innocent," such that a procedural default will be excused, a petitioner must "support his allegations of constitutional error with new reliable evidence -- whether it be exculpatory scientific evidence, trustworthy eyewitness accounts, or critical physical evidence -- that was not presented at trial." Id. at 324.

The Court, in reviewing this new reliable evidence, must be persuaded that "it is more likely than not that no reasonable juror would have found petitioner guilty beyond a reasonable doubt." Id. at 327 (adopting standard set forth in Murray V. Carrier, 477 U.S. 478, 1986)).

To meet this standard, a petitioner is not bound by traditional rules of admissibility that would govern at trial. 513 U.S. at 327. Rather, "the emphasis on "actual innocence" allows the reviewing tribunal also to consider the probative force of relevant evidence that was either excluded or unavailable at trial." 513 U.S. at 327-28.

Respondent's assertions to the contrary, the new reliable evidence of actual innocence does not necessarily need to be "linked" to a petitioner's procedurally defaulted claims. Although Schlup requires both a showing that there are procedurally defaulted claims and a showing of actual innocence to excuse the default, the Court does not read Schlup to require a showing that the evidence of innocence relates to, or is linked to, the constitutional claims. See e.g. Carriger V. Stewart, 132 F.3d 463 (CA9, 1997) (actual innocence established by government witness' post-trial confession that indeed, it had been he who committed the murder for which petitioner was convicted; new trial granted based upon constitutional error deriving from government's unrelated Brady violation in failing to provide defense with that witness' Department of Corrections file, which would have shown that the witness was a pathological liar-evidence which could have impeached the witness' credibility at trial.)

The only post Schlup case in which a link "requirement" has been discussed in the Eastern District of Virginia case of Weeks V. Angelone, 4 F. Supp. 3d 497 (E.D. Va. 1998). Weeks, however, is somewhat on point in that the petitioner was arguing that he was "actually innocent" of the sentence, not the crime, and the district court relied on the pre-Schlup case of Spencer V. Murray, 18 F.3d 229, 236 (CA4, 1994) in determining a link was required.

1. MOVANT'S SENTENCE WAS ILLEGAL

The gravamen, indeed quintessential issue herein starts with the issue that movant was sentenced to an enhanced punishment for selling crack cocaine, where there was simply no finding or proof that the substance was "crack cocaine".

In 1993 the definition of "cocaine base" was clarified by the U.S. Sentencing commission and now reads as follows:

The definition for "cocaine base", for the purposes of this guideline, means "crack". "Crack" is the street name for a form of cocaine base, usually prepared by processing cocaine hydrochloride and sodium bicarbonate, and usually appearing in a lumpy, rocklike form.

The Eleventh Circuit Court has held that only cocaine base which is crack should receive the 100:1 sentence enhancement for crack. United States V. Munoz-Realpe, 21 F.3d 375 (11th Cir. 1994).

As stated by the Fifth Circuit in United States V. Doggett, 230 F.3d 160 (5th Cir. 2000) when drug quantity is used to obtain an enhanced sentence, the quantity of drugs is an element of the offense. The Fifth Circuit stated as follows:

The drug quantity determination is critical to the statutory sentencing provisions in 21 USC § 841. Section 841 consists of two relevant subsections. Section 841 (a) makes it unlawful for any person to manufacture or distribute a controlled substance. Section 841 (b) defines the applicable penalties for violations of § 841 (a) based on the type and quantity of drug, previous convictions, and whether death or serious bodily injury resulted from use of the drug. The structure of § 841 is similar to that described by Justice Thomas in his concurrence to Apprendi, "if the legislature defines some core crime and then provides for increasing the punishment of that crime upon a finding of some aggravating fact -- of whatever sort -- the core crime and the aggravating fact together constitute an aggravated crime, just as much as grand larceny is an aggravated form of petit larceny. The aggravating fact is an element of the aggravating crime." Apprendi, 530 US at ___, 120 S.Ct. at 2368.

The Statue under which petitioner was sentenced provides in relevant part that 21 USC § 841:

(1)(A) In the case of a [drug offense] involving --...

(ii) 5 Kilograms or more of a mixture or substance containing a detectable amount of --...

(II) Cocaine, its salts, optical and geometric isomers, and salts of isomers;...

(iii) 50 grams or more of a mixture of substance described in clause (ii) which contains cocaine base; ...

such person shall be sentenced to a term of imprisonment which may be less than 10 years or more than life ...

(B) In the case of a [drug offense] involving -- ...

- (ii) 500 grams or more of a mixture or substance containing a detectable amount of --...
- (II) cocaine, its salts, optical and geometric isomers, and salts of isomers; ...
- (iii) 5 grams or more of a mixture or substance described in clause (ii) which contains cocaine base; ...

such person shall be sentenced to a term of imprisonment which may not be less than 5 years and not more than 40 years ...

21 USC § 841 (b). The guidelines also provide for 100:1 weight ratio which effectively punishes "cocaine base" offenses more severely than "cocaine" offenses. See USSG § 2D1.1(c).

Thusly, the Court had to find, based upon evidence in the record, and to a reasonable doubt, that movant possessed "crack cocaine", as opposed to mere cocaine, to allow the 100:1 penalty enhancement.

Parenthetically, this Circuit has taken Judicial notice that there is a difference between cocaine and cocaine base, as there is a difference between cocaine base and "crack" cocaine.

In an unrelated proceeding, Dr. James Woodford was qualified as an expert before an intra-circuit District Court.

During his testimony, Dr. Woodford presented a letter from Roger A. Pauley, Director of the Office of Legislation, Criminal Division, U.S. Department of Justice, dated July 1, 1993, to the Hon. William W. Wilkins, Jr, Chairman of the United States Sentencing Commission. The letter states in pertinent part, as follows:

The Drug Enforcement Agency has advised me in writing that the above definition is not precise and has no scientific meaning. Expert chemists will not be able to testify definitively that a particular substance is "crack" and thus, in their view, the definition provided by the Commission is unworkable. At the least it appears that the amendment will, unless further clarified through commentary or changed, generate a large amount of additional litigation, in an area in which the courts were approaching a consensus.

The DOJ letter continues as follows:

To the extent that "crack" can be defined, according to DEA the relevant distinction from other cocaine base is not the manner of its preparation or its lumpy, rocklike form (as stated in the amendment) but rather that it was intended to be consumed through smoking. Cocaine base in the form of paste can be (although it is not normally intended to be) smoked, and if smoked will produce the same or very similar effects as will smoking the substance in rocklike form.

The record below is devoid of any laboratory analysis that affirmatively describes the drugs in movant's case as anything other than Cocaine.<sup>1</sup> [In fact, an informant in Movant's case testified that he talked to movant about buying cocaine, and eventually movant got him cocaine (TR 6-107)<sup>2</sup>]

At resentencing, the Court did not make any finding, to any standard, that movant sold "crack". Moreover, the Court's attending probation officer candidly testified that "...we don't know what drugs [movant] was exposed to..." (512)<sup>3</sup>

Further, the Pre-Sentence Report does not definitively identify what form of cocaine (or quantity) that movant was actually convicted of possessing with intent to distribute.

1. As the Court is aware, this case was remanded on Direct Appeal for resentencing, as the Court, and not the jury determined Appellant was responsible for 562.4 grams of cocaine base.

2. Refers to Trial Testimony below.

3. Refers to Sentencing Transcript.

Likewise, in imposing the prison sentence, in an apparent effort to satisfy the requirements of 18 U.S.C § 3553 (a), the court only adverts to the quantity of drugs involved, (517), and does not explicate that the reason for imposing a maximum 240 month term was movant's possession of crack as opposed to cocaine. The ineluctable conclusion is that the court determined, sua sponte, that movant was responsible for "crack" cocaine, irrespective of the fact that here was no forensic or other evidence to support this erroneous determination.

To reiterate, the record is dehors any:

1. Forensic test quantitative or qualitative, showing movant possessed "crack cocaine."
2. Expert testimony that the drugs involved were other than simple cocaine or cocaine base, and not "crack cocaine".
3. Movant's admission, or stipulation to possessing "crack cocaine".
4. The government's proof that the substance was smokable [crack cocaine is intended to be consumed by smoking.] United States V. Brisbane, 367 F.3d 910

Quite the opposite, the record is rife with the reference by involved persons that movant could get cocaine ( R105-106); that movant got the informant cocaine (R106-107); that movant, on September 4, 1997 could not sell the informant any cocaine.

Where the evidence at trial does not prove that the substance in the case was smokable and does not prove that it was crack, reversal is required. See: United States v. Brisbane, 367 F. 3d 910 (CA D.C, 2004)

Movant is actually innocent of possessing, with intent to distribute more than 50 grams of crack cocaine, see : United States v. Munoz-Realpe, Supra id @ 21 F. 3d 375, 376 [only cocaine base that is crack should receive 100:1 sentence enhancements.]

(b) Direct Appeal of All Grounds

(1) If you appealed from the judgment of conviction, did you raise this issue?

Yes •• No •• ☒ X

(2) If you did not raise this issue in your direct appeal, briefly explain why: This issue is properly raised by post-conviction motion.

(c) Post-Conviction Proceedings:

(1) Did you raise this issue in any post-conviction motion, petition, or application?

Yes •• No •• Not Applicable

(2) If your answer to Question (c)(1) is "Yes," state the type of motion, petition, or application, the name and location of the court where the motion or petition was filed, the case number (if you know), the date of the court's decision, and the result. 16. Were you sentenced on more than one count of an indictment, or on more than one indictment, in the same court and at the same time? ☒ Yes • ☐ No • •

17. Do you have any future sentence to serve after you complete the sentence for the judgment that you are challenging? Yes • ☐ No • • ☒ X

(a) If so, give name and location of court that imposed the other sentence you will serve in the future:

(b) Give the date the other sentence was imposed: Not Applicable

(c) Give the length of the other sentence: Not Applicable

(d) Have you filed, or do you plan to file, any motion, petition, or application that challenges the judgment or sentence to be served in the future? Yes • ☐ No • • ☒ X

18. TIMELINESS OF MOTION: If your judgment of conviction became final over one year ago, you must explain why the one-year statute of limitations as codified in 28 U.S.C. § 2255 does not bar your motion.

MOVANT IS ACTUALLY INNOCENT

The Supreme Court has upheld that the Constitutional rights of criminal defendants are granted to the innocent and guilty alike, and the scope of those rights is not altered -- simply because they are asserted on Federal Habeas Review rather than on direct review. Schneckloth V. Bustamonte, 412 US 218, 257 (1973) [Powell, J. concurring] Accord: Kimmelman V. Morrisson, 477 US 365, 380 (1986) Indeed, Constitutional protections are not confined to those defendants who are normally blameless. Jackson V. Virginia, 443 US 307, 323 (1979).

It is in fact arguable that a habeas corpus petitioner's apparent guilt should heighten, not cut off or diminish, the scrutiny of the procedures by which he was convicted and sentenced. See: e.g, Schriro v. Summerlin, 542 US 348, 362 (2004); Dretke V. Haley, 541 US 386, 398-399 (2004) [Habeas Corpus is, and has been for centuries a "bulwark against convictions that violate fundamental fairness"];

Bousley V. United States, 523 US 614, 620 (1998) [One of the principle functions of habeas corpus is to assure that no man has been incarcerated under a procedure which creates an impermissably large risk that the innocent will be convicted.]; O'Neal v. Mcaninch, 512 US 432, 442 (1995) [Basic purposes underlying the Writ of Habeas Corpus include curing an error of Constitutional dimension - the sort that risks an unreliable trial outcome and the consequent conviction of an innocent person.]; Schlup V. Delo, 513 US 298, 324-25 (1995) [The individual interest in avoiding injustice is most compelling in context of actual innocence.]; and, see United States V. Barron, 172 f.3d 1153, 1161 (CA9, 1999) (en banc) [ 28 U.S.C. § 2255 "incorporates the fundamental principle that it is never just to punish a man or woman for an innocent act".]; Weidner V. Thieret, 932 f.2d 626, 631 (CA7, 1991) cert den @ 502 US 1036 (1992).

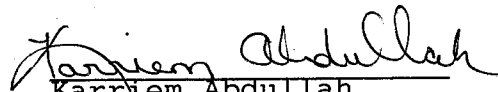

Herein, Karriem Abdullah is both procedurally and actually innocent of the 235 month term of imprisonment imposed by this Court.

Therefore, Movant asks that the Court vacate the sentence imposed hereinbefore; and that the Court grant such other and further relief as it may deem just and proper.
